Introduction

The first quarter of 2019 saw Clare PPN move from Clare Local Development Company to sharing a premises with the Clare Women's Network in Clonroad Business Park. This has been a large undertaking and coincided with the formation of a CLG and registering with Revenue for tax purposes. Also both staff increased their hours from 21 to 28 with effect from the 1st January. The move has hugely increased the visibility and accessibility of Clare PPN. We are now in a position to offer training space to member groups at a nominal rate and it has already become a hub of community-based activity. We are also in the process of applying for charitable status which will help us in accessing future funding for the benefit of our member groups.

During the first quarter of 2019 Clare PPN also continued its routine work of circulating information about events, funding and public consultations to its members through its newsletters and social media channels and maintained its support for its representatives who sit on 11 different committees in the county and region. We have also begun a recruitment process for a support worker.

We held an introductory session on Governance for Community Groups and our first quarterly plenary meeting in March. 2019 will see local authority elections followed by SPC/LCDC etc. elections and Clare PPN has been preparing, to ensure maximum engagement through educational training and awareness raising events and through building our relationship with groups throughout the county.

Secretariat Elections

A secretariat election was held in the Killaloe Municipal District with a very positive outcome (see below). We would also like to say a huge thank you to four outgoing Secretariat members who have given so generously of their time and skills from the very beginning; Eugene Crimmins, Damon Matthew Wise, Cillian Murphy & Christy Sinclair. Elections are ongoing for these positions.

Welcome Fionnuala Collins – representing Killaloe Municipal District on the Clare PPN Secretariat

Fionnuala is a philosophy graduate with more than 25 years of community work and activism behind her, both in a professional and in a voluntary capacity. Holding additional qualifications in Community Development practice, Youth and Community Work and International youth mobility project management, she has worked directly with a range of vulnerable and “at risk” groups over this time. She is currently the South West Regional Co-ordinator of MOVE Ireland (Men Overcoming Violence).

Since moving to Clare in 2006, she has served in many voluntary roles for a diverse range of organisations-including Secretary for East Clare Community Co-op, Treasurer then Chairperson of Whitegate Camogie club, Secretary for Whitegate Community Council, parents representative to the board of Lakyle National School and lately as a committee member on a newly formed community games committee. This depth of experience has helped her to see the needs of the region from a range of viewpoints, from youth/educational to environmental/sustainable development.

Fionnuala has been instrumental in directing financial resources to East Clare, through a wide range of grant applications over the past 12 years, including POBAL employment grants, LEADER/SEAI capital grants, EU ERASMUS educational training grants and Local Authority grants. She has been the Irish co-ordinator for 2 International projects, one on the theme of sustainable local food and the other was a training course on Youth leadership. Fionnuala has a strong interest in Community Leadership and collective agency and this led her to invite the President of Ireland to Scariff in 2012 to celebrate the 25 year anniversary of East Clare Community Co-operative.
